Protocol of Jurisdictional Interaction and Extraterritorial Exercise

Suquelish Republic

Preamble

Recognizing the Suquelish Republic as a voluntary, non-territorial civic nation composed of citizens residing throughout various sovereign jurisdictions, this Protocol establishes the principles governing the interaction between the institutions of the Suquelish Republic, its citizens, and the governments and legal systems of the territories in which those citizens reside or operate.

This Protocol affirms that the authority of the Suquelish Republic derives from voluntary civic affiliation and constitutional governance rather than territorial control. It further establishes the lawful boundaries of Suquelish jurisdiction, protects the rights of its citizens, and promotes harmonious coexistence with the laws and institutions of sovereign states.
All provisions within this Protocol shall operate in alignment with the Constitution and Bill of Rights of the Suquelish Republic.

Article I
Nature of Jurisdiction

Section 1 Civic and Personal Jurisdiction
The jurisdiction of the Suquelish Republic shall be civic and personal in nature rather than territorial. Authority extends to:
Citizens of the Suquelish Republic
Voluntary participants in Suquelish institutions or programs

Activities conducted within Suquelish institutions, platforms, or recognized communities and international missions

Section 2 Voluntary Affiliation
All jurisdiction exercised by the Republic derives from voluntary civic association and shall not be imposed upon any individual without consent.

Section 3 Absence of Territorial Sovereignty
The Republic does not claim territorial sovereignty, municipal authority, or governmental control over geographic land within any sovereign state.

Article II
Recognition of External Sovereignty

Section 1 Supremacy of Host-State Law

Citizens of the Suquelish Republic remain subject to the laws of the sovereign nation-states in which they reside, travel, or conduct activity.

Section 2 Respect for Jurisdiction
The Suquelish Republic shall respect the sovereignty, authority, and legal institutions of all recognized governments.

Section 3 Duty of Compliance
Suquelish citizenship does not exempt any individual from lawful obligations within their place of residence.

Article III
Scope of Extraterritorial Governance

Citizens may voluntarily submit to Suquelish civic codes and ethical standards as part of their membership in the Republic.

Article IV
Rights to Safety and Community Protection

Section 1 Right to Safety
Citizens possess the inherent right to personal safety, peace, and protection within Suquelish institutions, facilities, events, and communities.

Section 2 Community Protection
The Republic and its recognized institutions may implement protective measures to ensure the safety of citizens, guests, and property.

Section 3 Duty to Maintain Order
Institutions operating under the Republic shall maintain environments that promote safety, dignity, and peaceful conduct.

Article V
Community Security and Internal Protective Services

Section 1 Establishment of Security Personnel
The Suquelish Republic and its authorized institutions may organize and maintain internal security personnel for the purpose of protecting facilities, events, communes, communities, and other activities conducted under Suquelish administration.

Section 2 Scope of Security Authority Security personnel may:

enforce institutional rules and codes of conduct maintain order within Suquelish facilities and events supervise access to property protect persons and property
address disruptive or unsafe behavior defend Suquelish communities in self-defense

Section 3 Removal from Property
Where necessary to preserve safety or order, security personnel may require individuals to leave property, facilities, events, or communities operating under Suquelish administration when those individuals violate established rules or threaten the safety or peace of others.

Article VI
Private Property Jurisdiction

Section 1 Governance of Controlled Property
Within property lawfully controlled, leased, or administered by Suquelish institutions, internal rules and regulations may govern conduct, participation, and continued presence.

Section 2 Rights of Property Stewardship
Authorized representatives of Suquelish institutions may regulate entry, establish conditions of participation, and remove individuals whose conduct violates community standards.

Section 3 Private Jurisdiction

Such authority arises from the principles of private property governance and voluntary participation rather than public governmental authority.

Article VII
Limitations of Security Authority

Section 1 No Public Police Powers
Security personnel operating under the Suquelish Republic shall not exercise governmental police powers except as permitted by the laws of the jurisdiction in which they operate. Suquelish security forces may:

conduct patrols
alarm and emergency response conduct entry and exit control and searches restrict access enforce curfew
and other reasonable operations in Suquelish jurisdictions and properties.

Section 2 Compliance with Host Law
All security operations shall respect and comply with the laws and regulations of the sovereign jurisdiction in which the activity occurs.

Section 3 Civic Purpose
Security forces exist solely for the protection of community safety, institutional order, and property stewardship.

Article VIII
Communal Institutions and Communities

Section 1 Communal Operations
Communes, communities, or organized residential institutions affiliated with the Suquelish Republic may adopt internal governance structures consistent with the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Section 2 Host-State Compliance
Such communities must operate in compliance with the laws and regulations of the jurisdiction in which they are physically located.

Section 3 Internal Order
Communities may establish internal codes of conduct, membership standards, and governance procedures.

Article IX
Dispute Resolution

Section 1 Mediation
The Republic may establish voluntary mediation systems for resolving disputes between citizens.

Section 2 Arbitration
Citizens may voluntarily submit disputes to Suquelish arbitration bodies for fair resolution.

Section 3 External Legal Matters
Disputes involving criminal law, civil liability, or statutory obligations within a sovereign state shall remain under the jurisdiction of that state's courts.

Article X
Digital Jurisdiction

The Republic may exercise jurisdiction over its official digital platforms, civic registries, and governance infrastructure.

Section 2 Privacy and Rights
Digital governance shall respect privacy, liberty, and rights guaranteed under the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Article XI
Enforcement Limitations

Section 1 Civic Remedies
The Republic may enforce internal rules through civic remedies including:

mediation
institutional discipline suspension of privileges
revocation of citizenship

Section 2 Non-Coercive Authority
Enforcement shall remain non-coercive beyond voluntary civic structures and property stewardship rights.

Article XII
Interpretation and Amendment

Section 1 Constitutional Alignment
This Protocol shall be interpreted in harmony with the Constitution and Bill of Rights of the Suquelish Republic.

Section 2 Amendment
Amendments to this Protocol may be adopted through constitutional procedures established by the Republic.

Article XIII
Suquelish Community Marshal Service

Section 1 Establishment
The Suquelish Republic may establish a Community Marshal Service as an internal civic institution responsible for the protection of Suquelish communities, facilities, events, and institutions operating under the authority of the Republic.

Section 2 Purpose
The Community Marshal Service shall exist for the purposes of:

maintaining safety and order within Suquelish facilities and events enforcing institutional rules and community codes of conduct protecting citizens, guests, and property within Suquelish-administered environments supporting the orderly functioning of Suquelish institutions and gatherings

Section 3 Authority Community Marshals may:

supervise entry and access to facilities and events enforce established rules and regulations of Suquelish institutions de-escalate conflicts and disturbances escort or remove individuals who violate community standards or threaten safety provide protective services to citizens and institutions

Section 4 Limitations
The Community Marshal Service shall operate strictly within the bounds of private property stewardship and voluntary civic participation.
It shall not claim or exercise governmental police authority except where permitted under the laws of the jurisdiction in which it operates.

Section 5 Accountability
Community Marshals shall remain subject to the Constitution, Bill of Rights, and ethical codes of the Suquelish Republic and shall conduct their duties with respect for dignity, safety, and lawful conduct.

Article XIV
Jurisdiction Over Vessels, Caravans, and Mobile Facilities

Section 1 Recognition of Mobile Institutions
The Suquelish Republic may recognize certain vessels, caravans, vehicles, or mobile structures as mobile Suquelish facilities when operated or administered by authorized Suquelish institutions or citizens.

Section 2 Internal Governance
Such mobile facilities may operate under the internal governance, codes of conduct, and institutional rules established by the Suquelish Republic while functioning as communal, cultural, or civic environments.

Section 3 Property Stewardship
Operators or stewards of Suquelish vessels, caravans, or mobile facilities may regulate conduct, participation, and access consistent with private property rights and community governance.

Section 4 Jurisdictional Respect
Operation of such mobile facilities shall remain subject to the transportation, maritime, aviation, and property laws of the sovereign jurisdiction in which they are located or operating.

Article XV
International Cultural Missions

Section 1 Cultural Representation
The Suquelish Republic may establish International Cultural Missions for the purpose of promoting Suquelish language, culture, traditions, Faith, and civic ideals.

Section 2 Nature of Missions
International Cultural Missions shall function as cultural, educational, and community outreach institutions rather than diplomatic missions of a territorial state.

Section 3 Activities
Such missions may engage in activities including:

cultural exchange
educational programs
language preservation community gatherings
humanitarian or cultural collaboration with external organizations

Section 4 Legal Compliance
All International Cultural Missions shall operate in full compliance with the laws and regulations of the countries in which they exist.

Article XVI
Protection of Citizens, Facilities, and Ships Abroad

Section 1 Civic Protection
The Suquelish Republic recognizes a duty to promote the safety and well-being of its citizens, institutions, vessels, and facilities wherever they operate.

Section 2 Protective Measures
The Republic may provide protective coordination through:

the Community Marshal Service
institutional security personnel safety protocols for Suquelish gatherings and facilities coordination with local authorities when appropriate

Section 3 Protection of Suquelish Vessels and Facilities: Vessels, caravans, or facilities operated under Suquelish administration may implement internal security measures and protective procedures to safeguard participants and property.

Section 4 Cooperation with Host Authorities
Protection of citizens or facilities abroad shall always occur in a manner that respects the sovereignty and legal authority of the jurisdiction in which the activity occurs.

Section 5 Protective and Tactical Security Capacity: Where circumstances present credible threats to the safety of citizens, facilities, or gatherings, the Suquelish Republic may authorize the organization and deployment of specialized protective security personnel trained to respond to heightened security risks or hostile situations.

Such personnel may operate as a tactical security element within the Community Marshal Service, responsible for safeguarding individuals, protecting Suquelish facilities, securing events, and assisting in the orderly evacuation or stabilization of environments during emergencies or hostile disruptions.

The role of these personnel shall remain defensive and protective in nature and shall function within the framework of private protection and military services. They are the international response command and safety net to the Suquelish Republic and Suquelinese People. The republic may maintain laws for operational use jurisdiction and rules of engagement including maintaining facilities and education for advanced tactical security forces.

All tactical security operations shall be conducted in accordance with the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and the ethical standards of the Suquelish Republic and for the preservation of life and safety from hustle acts and actors.
